Let There Be Light

INTRO Let there be light, let there be light Am /// Am /// Am /// G D Let there be light, let there be light Am /// Em /// Em /// Em /// Em /// On us, on us. Em VERSES Superficial conversations, undermining social status of Young and immature adults who'd probably buy into that But culture doesn't contradict the things we have a problem with They thoroughly support, and usually find a way to honor it Em So here I am in opposition, hoping to define a mission Needed but rejected by the people I'm correcting So, excuse me if I'm wrong, but I'm here to interject In such a subtle yet profound attempt to interrupt your temperament 'Cause sentiment is just a new excuse to be complacent In a world that's growing distant from the one that we were raised in D And it's tasteless to even entertain the thought of compromise 'Cause we lose our supremacy to consubstantial artifice And that begins to dissolute and misconstrue reality Until we believe that Jesus is subordinate to vanity D And that should cause concern, but still we hardly ever notice Cause addressing fellow Christians could cause us to be alone and So nothing ever changes, we become the things we talk about in Church behind the person in our pew that it's about them

And we don't really a problem with it, we'd rather move on Am

Than let it sit inside our spirit and convict us, let's be honest though Em

I'm not here to sugar coat, or emphasize your underlying problems like I'm opted out of 'em, I'm just here to let you know that D

Judgment is upon us, we don't have the time to promise God Am

Our actions don't reflect our heart like he doesn't see our motives

On us

No, I don't really care about the "competition" let them listen Am

Let them hear my vision, let them tell me what I'm missing
Am

Let them have their intuition, I mean only if it's biblical Am

Don't claim to be prophetic, if you're just trying to be lyrical
